b) Has institution established a Grievance Redressal Mechanism: Yes

For redressing the major grievances of students, 'Grievance Redressal Cell' has been formed in the college with one male and one female teacher in charge. The major grievances of students are heard by this cell and after mutual discussions and consent, the final solution is forwarded to the head of the college for approval. However, if some grievances are not solved at college administration level, then those are forwarded to Blooms Educational Society (parent body of college) to take necessary action in that regard. The minor grievances or problems are settled by faculty members or committee in charges at their level through cooperation and consent. The main functions of this cell are numerated here:

- 1 To solve major grievances of students through mutual agreement, willingness and acceptance.
- 2 To forward the major grievances of students to the administration/ management level for its final settlement that can not be solved on its own.

c) As the institution established anti ragging mechanism?

Discipline-cum- Anti Ragging Committee functions in collaboration with college administration to maintain proper discipline in the college.

The college tries to develop the value of self-discipline among the students through student centered approach. This committee has one teacher in charge, one teacher member as well as one student member from each programme. The main functions of this committee are;

- 1 To ensure and maintain discipline in the college.
- 2 To make students aware about ill effects of indiscipline and ragging.
- 3 To curb the menace of indiscipline and ragging in the college.
- 4 To report the cases of ragging/indiscipline to college administration for further necessary action.
- 5 To suggest/recommend ways and means of curbing the problems of indiscipline/ ragging in the college.

d) Has the institution constituted the Quality Assurance Cell?

YES

IQAC was established on 27th APRIL, 2015. This cell ensures quality in all academic and administrative activities which leads to overall development of the institution. It acts as a vehicle for quality enhancement by working out planned strategies to remove deficiencies and enhance quality. The main functions of IQAC are as given under:

- I. To improve the academic and administrative activities of the institution.
- II. To disseminate information on various quality parameters of higher education among teachers and administrators.
- III. To document various programmes/activities leading to quality improvement.
- IV. To organize workshops, seminars etc.
- V. To collect and analyze feedback from students and other stakeholders on institutional working.
- VI. To act as a nodal agency of the institution for coordinating quality-related activities, including adoptions and dissemination of best practices.
